Medical Association Executive Pamela Mix Elected to Lake Forest Graduate School of Management Board of Directors

College of American Pathologists executive Pamela Mix has been elected a member of the Board of Directors at Lake Forest Graduate School of Management, Chicago's 4th largest non-profit MBA program.

LAKE FOREST, ILL. (June 8, 2009) — Lake Forest Graduate School of Management (LFGSM) is pleased to announce the election of Pamela Mix to a three-year term on its Board of Directors. She will serve as Chairperson of the Board's Human Resources Committee.

As a member of the Board of Directors at LFGSM, Mix joins an esteemed group of high-ranking executives from major Chicago-area businesses and organizations. "We are pleased to announce Pam Mix's election to our Board of Directors," said John Popoli, LFGSM President and CEO. "The Board — and entire LFGSM community — benefit greatly from the broad experience she has gained working with both for-profit and non-profit organizations in the areas of human resources and corporate governance. Her leadership skills and business insights will help to further strengthen the School's ability to serve both our students and the broader business community."

Mix is Vice President, Human Resources and Governance Services at the College of American Pathologists (the "College"), a non-profit medical society serving more than 17,000 physician members and the laboratory community worldwide. Serving as an advocate for high-quality, cost-effective medical care, the College is the world's largest association composed exclusively of board-certified pathologists, and it is regarded as the leader in laboratory quality assurance.

Currently, Mix is responsible for developing an integrated strategy to align compensation, development and organization effectiveness to the College's overall strategy. In addition, she guides the development of the organization's member-elected Board, and oversees the planning and development of the College's complex member-committee structure. As a member of the LFGSM Board of Directors and the Human Resources Committee Chairperson, Mix will contribute specialized leadership expertise in the areas of talent development, leadership strategy and effective governance in the non-profit environment.

"I am grateful for the opportunity to share insights and best practices with fellow members of the LFGSM Board, and to participate in advancing the School's mission of helping experienced business professionals gain the tools they need to advance their careers," Mix said. "Having recently completed my own graduate program as a mid-career professional, I have a current perspective on the unique needs of students who are working professionals."

Throughout her career, Mix has worked extensively in compensation, leadership development and organizational change. Prior to joining the College of American Pathologists, Mix supported global pharmaceutical R&D efforts at Pharmacia Corporation. She began her career at Baxter Healthcare, where she held numerous roles during a period of 14 years that involved broad human resources support of operations, sales and marketing, manufacturing, and R&D in both domestic and international environments.

Mix holds a Master's Degree in Positive Organization Development and Change from Case Western Reserve University, and a Bachelor's Degree in Sociology from Carthage College. She is a member of the Society for Human Resources Management, The Human Resources Management Association of Chicago, the Association Forum of Chicagoland, and the American Society of Association Executives. Mix also is a volunteer with the Public Action to Deliver Shelter and Habitat for Humanity.
